WORKPLACE HOUSEKEEPING

It has been said that there is a place for everything ... and everything in its place! This concept can also be applied to workplace health and safety. Housekeeping is about more than just convenience and cleanliness – it is an ongoing process that is integral to accident and fire prevention.

Every workplace is subject to housekeeping hazards, which are often the cause of frequent and compensable injuries. Many employees are injured as a result of poor housekeeping, improper storage and cluttered work areas.

Employers and supervisors must ensure a safe workplace by controlling hazards. Workers must work in compliance with occupational health and safety laws, including the obligation to report hazards in the workplace and follow all internal workplace health and safety policies and procedures.

Training Solution – Online Workplace Housekeeping Course

Many of these hazards can be controlled by following simple housekeeping guidelines. This course is designed to provide participants with an understanding of general housekeeping principles and benefits.

Course Overview

Upon completing Workplace Housekeeping, participants will learn about:

- The importance of housekeeping
- Relevant legal references
- Signs of poor housekeeping
- Tips to improve housekeeping – addressing issues such as unobstructed pathways, work surfaces, storage, spills and waste disposal

Online Course Offers Convenience and Efficiency
