WORKING FROM HEIGHTS (ONTARIO)

Many workplace tasks include the use of a ladder, scaffold, or perhaps having to perform work along the edge of a building. Such tasks can expose a worker to fall hazards, which frequently result in severe injuries or fatalities. Statistics tell us that 60 workers are injured from falls each day in Canada, and falls account for over 8% of workplace-related fatalities.

Standards and guidelines are in place to outline workplace responsibilities for worker protection.
